Legislative Intent Service, Inc., Building Through History

Our research company is based in a Victorian building built in 1892, in Woodland, California, just outside of the state Capitol. When originally constructed, there was an existing brick wall, which Tom Stallard, our founder and the owner of this building, used for the interior east side of our building when he restored it in the early 1980s. Shelving covered this brick wall for many years accommodating the millions of pages of our research materials. We have been scanning for 10 years and most of these shelves are now bare, exposing the old brick wall that predated the building containing a previously painted sign almost 30 feet long that reads: "Cigarettes: New Improved Mouthpiece 5 cents." So, we not only research history, we live and work in a truly historical environment.
